In the world's broad field of battle,
In the conflict of real life,
Advertising is the secret
Of achievement in the strife,
Lives of rich men all remind us
We can make our own sublime;
And by liberal advertising
To the highest summit climb.

FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER.

Tell me not in mournful numbers,
Advertising does not pay;
For the man's non compus mentis
Who would such absurd things say.
Life is real! Life is earnest!
And the man who hopes to rise
To success in any calling,
Must expect to advertise.

NEWS AND COMMENT.

THE OBSERVER is sixty-five years old, and never enjoyed better health in its life.

Commencing in a few days, the OBSERVER will publish, each week a portrait and biographical sketch of the candidates for Congress in the Third Congressional District.

THE new tariff bill, reported to the House a few days since by the Ways and Means Committee of which Maj. MCKINLEY is Chairman, it is estimated will reduce the revenue only $25,000 per annum.

"PRESIDENT HARRISON would be entitled to $8 a month under the Service Pension bill, should it pass." Some of his enemies are mean enough to say that this fact removes all danger of his vetoing the bill.

MR. W. E. MURCHISON, a talented lawyer, has taken charge of the Jonesboro Leader, with Dr. SNIPES as business manager. It is announced that the Leader will no longer be Independent but Democratic. We wish it much success.

THE Committee on Public Buildings and Internal Improvements have reported favorably the bill introduced in Congress by Hon. C. W. MCCLAMMY for a public building in Fayetteville. Score another victory for the Capital City of the Upper Cape Fear!

THE Charleston News and Courier is in trouble. Col. WHITE has declined to permit his name to be used in the list of those who are candidates for the office of Governor of South Carolina, and the number of aspirants is reduced to 43. It is a pity to spoil an even number, and the News and Courier is in quest of another man with a "bee in his bonnet."

THE Wilmington Star was twenty-two and a half years of age a few days ago. In vigor, freshness and herculean and systematic effort in behalf of the South, its State and its section, it is the embodiment of bouyant and exultant youth; in wisdom, ability, correct judgment and general level-headedness it has the dignified poise of Mentor and the hoary front of Methusaleh.

IT would be interesting if we could ascertain how large a part of the crowd, which greeted with tumultuous applause BOYLE acquitted the other night, helped to swell the numbers of those who hooted and hissed BOYLE condemned on the former trial. Was it not CROMWELL who, riding through the streets of London in all the pride of human triumph and the flush of human greatness, exclaimed, as the adulatory shouts of thousands fell upon his ear: "The rabble! In fallen fortunes they would be the first to hang me?"

The rapidly increasing wealth of the country is no less wonderful at this time than the business prosperity of the United States within the past ten years is marvelous. The New York Commercial Advertiser, the standard of truth, in so far as commerce is concerned, estimates the total wealth of the country at $71,459,000,000, equal to nearly $1,000 per head. This is an increase in ten years of $18,000,000,000, or 42 per cent. England's wealth in 1885 is given as $50,000,000,000, giving an average wealth per head of $1,545. The average in Scotland is $1,215 per head, and in Ireland $565. The total wealth of France is estimated at $36,000,000,000.

THE recent disasters by storm and flood in Kentucky and the Ohio Valley will take rank with the memorable earthquake of Charleston, S. C., August 31st, 1886, and the flood which almost obliterated Johnstown, Pa., on the 29th of May, 1889. We read the graphic details in type, but the printed page is powerless to convey anything like a realization of all the horrors of such catastrophes:—death as sudden as the electric flash; the desolation of homes, with the ruin of domestic comfort and happiness; the disappearance of friends and kindred, with the suspense and anguish attending it; the loss of property, representing the toil of years, the plans, the hopes, the honorable ambition of a lifetime. Trite but true is the adage: "One half the world knows not what the other half suffers."

GOV. HILL has appointed Gen. D. F. SICKLES Sheriff of New York, in place of FLACK, convicted of conspiracy the other day, and condemned to imprisonment for four months and the payment of a fine of $500. The appointment of Gen. SICKLES recalls his killing of PHIL BARTON KEY in Washington City many years ago. The writer was there at the time of the tragedy, a mere lad, but he remembers the excitement incident to the trial of SICKLES—the bouquets which were showered by fair hands upon the distinguished prisoner (SICKLES was at that time a member of Congress), the exquisite boutonnieres which adorned the lapel of his coat day after day, and the ovation consequent upon his acquittal. "Lame and impotent conclusion to" the grand flourish with which SICKLES posed as the avenger of outraged virtue and wounded honor, he took back to his arms the woman who, by her own confession, was as guilty as the man slain for his own and her sin.

NEW YORK IN OLD TIMES.

A Romantic Wedding—Theodosia Burr—Visits of Royalty.

Popular Monthly.]

In 1793 a romantic wedding set the fashionable world agog. The hero was Washington Morton, brother-in-law of the famous Josiah Quincy. He was a handsome, dashing fellow, a graduate of Princeton at seventeen, and a youth of much promise. He was fond of athletics, and laid a wager that he would walk from New York to Philadelphia—no easy matter—in three days. "His walk finished and his wager won, he spent the night with the gentleman who had accompanied him on horse back, together with a party of Philadelphia's choice, over a supper-table spread in his honor." On his return to New York he found himself the hero of the hour, and with his usual impetuosity he fell in love with the gentle and beautiful Cornelia Schuyler, of Albany, who was spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Hamilton. On her return to Albany she was accompanied by her lover, who asked her hand in marriage. Her father, however, was unwilling to give his daughter to this dashing youth of twenty-two, and determined to put an end to further matrimonial intentions by forbidding him the house. When the door had been closed on young Morton, Colonel Schuyler called his daughter into the library, and told her what had happened, adding: "Promise me that, henceforward, you will have nothing to do with Washington Morton, either by word or by letter." "I cannot, sir," she replied. "What! do you mean to disobey me?" "I mean that I cannot bind myself to any such pledge as you name, and—and—I will not!"

A few weeks later, at midnight, Morton and a friend of his, well wrapped in cloaks, approached the house; at a signal a window was opened, and a rope-ladder thrown up and securely fastened. Cornelia Schuyler appeared at the window, and accomplished her descent in safety. A little boat, in waiting on the Hudson, conveyed the lovers and their friends to the opposite bank, where a fine pair of horses were in readiness. Young Morton lifted his lady-love on one, and, mounting the other, the two sped to Stockbridge, to the house of Judge Sedgewick, a mutual friend. A clergyman was sent for, and the two were made one. It was some time before Colonel Schuyler forgave his daughter her nocturnal escapade.

Another gay belle was Theodosia Burr, daughter of the ambitious and intriguing Aaron Burr. Like all belles of former days, she was both witty and handsome; her witty sallies were quite noted. She was one of the best educated women of her time and country. On one occasion, while her father was Senator in Philadelphia, he sent the Indian Brant with a letter to his daughter, then a girl of fourteen. She entertained him at dinner, and invited many distinguished people to meet him, though she wrote her father she was much puzzled in her choice of dishes. "She had a mind," she said, "to lay the hospital under contribution for a human head, to be served up like a boar's head in ancient hall barbaric. But after all, he was a most Christian and civilized guest in his manners." Before her wedding with Mr. Alston, of South Carolina, Theodosia and a gay party, at the invitation of Mayor Livingston, went on board a frigate lying in the harbor. Thereupon the Mayor entreated her to bring "none of her sparks on board. They have a magazine there, and we should all be blown up."

The Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria, paid a visit to New York at this time. Louis Philippe and his brothers also wandered here from France, where their estates had been confiscated. Louis Philippe, while in New York, gave a dinner at his lodgings; John Singleton Copley, afterward Lord Lyndhurst, and son of the celebrated painter, attended the dinner, at which half the guests were obliged to sit on the bed. The great Kosciusko, released from a Russian prison, was welcomed by all. Many others, none the less distinguished, crossed the ocean—some to enjoy the social life in the New World, others from curiosity as to how the infant republic would thrive, and all to see the great chief who had led a straggling and undisciplined army to victory and freedom.

To Give the Sack.

Two noblemen in the reign of Maximilian II (1561-1576), one a German, the other a Spaniard, who had each rendered a great service to the Emperor, asked the hand of his daughter, Helena, in marriage. Maximilian said that as he esteemed them both alike it was impossible for him to choose between them, and therefore their own prowess must decide it; but, being unwilling to risk the loss of either by engaging them in deadly combat, he ordered a large sack to be brought, and declared that he who should put his rival into it should have the fair Helena. And this whimsical combat was actually performed in the presence of the imperial court, and lasted an hour. The unhappy Spanish nobleman was first overcome, and the German succeeded in enveloping him in the sack, took him on his back and laid him at the Emperor's feet. This comical combat is said to be the origin of the phrase, "give him the sack," so common in the literature of courting.

"Combine" on Sugar.

The New York Sun says the wholesale grocers of the country have entered a combination to advance the price of sugar one-fourth of a cent per pound. It is claimed that they have been losing money on sugar for several years. If their proposed scheme is carried out the people of the country will pay about $7,000,000 more for their sugar than heretofore. The grocers being at the mercy of the sugar trust, the advance must be charged to that monopolistic combination.

Rather Ignorant.

An English paper alleges that on a recent trip to Europe the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas was introduced to an English member of Parliament. The introduction was made, but only by the judicial title of the American visitor. "Oh, yes," said the Englishman, "I have heard of you. Your name is Judge Lynch."

SAVED BY PRESENCE OF MIND.

A Maniac's Intended Victim Escapes from a Horrible Death by Stratagem.

OMAHA, March 31.—An incident which occurred a few weeks ago, in which J. E. McPearson, who has lately been committed for insanity, was concerned, is vouched for by an acquaintance of his who is an employe of Hammond. If it had not been for the exercise of presence of mind a horrible tragedy would have resulted. McPearson, it is alleged, was struck some years ago on the head by a stone.

The blow is supposed to have injured his brain, for after the direct recovery from the injury he was subject to fits of great mental depression, which were succeeded by spells of extraordinary exhilaration and joy. Naturally his friends were uneasy about him, but until quite recently their anxiety had been considerably lessened, as he had shown marked improvement and a gradual cessation of the unnatural spells. But the dread disease of insanity is never so dangerous as when it is least suspected.

Some time ago a young man, a cousin of McPearson, was passing through the city and called at the house. It so happened that no one was in at the time save McPearson. The caller knew of the accident that had befallen his relative, and also of the fears of his friends, but after chatting for awhile was delighted to find him apparently a rational being, with no taint or symptom of the dreaded affliction. Little did he suspect the awful scheme for his destruction the diseased brain was evolving while he was being delighted and entertained with amiable and interesting conversation.

"Have you seen much of the city?" inquired McPearson in a very quiet manner. "The city has grown considerably of late, and you can have no idea of its growth until viewed from some overlooking eminence. I often look at it from the house-top, and really it is a most interesting sight. Come, I will show it to you."

Not suspecting anything, the caller acquiesced, and followed his delighted host to the top story, and thence up a ladder through the sky-light to the housetop. Several points of interest were shown him, when suddenly the visitor noticed that his host's eyes were fixed on him with piercing intensity. They shone with the brilliancy of unmistakable lunacy, and he felt a cold shiver run down his back and a horrible, indescribable sinking within him, as the gaze was fitfully averted from and directed at him. He was just on the point of retreating to the skylight to go down, when the madman obstructed his way, and, glaring at him with the baleful gleam of insanity, said: "I have brought you up here with the intention of throwing you from the roof to the street. Somebody has got to die, and you are the one."

The visitor was, for the moment, dumb with horror as he realized the import of the awful words and the position in which he was placed. The maniac is a tall, powerfully built man, much larger than the visitor, and there was no doubt that he intended keeping his word. The visitor made a motion to go toward the skylight, when the other intercepted him, standing so close to it that escape that way was impossible. No one was near to help, and if he should call out a struggle would ensue, and the inevitable result would be that he or both of them would plunge to an awful death. With great presence of mind he suddenly said:

"John, I know that somebody has got to die. In fact, I have for some time longed for death. Now, if you will step back just for a moment I will kneel in prayer, then go back on the roof, run to the edge and jump as far out as possible."

This seemed to please the maniac, who stepped away from the skylight some distance while his intended victim knelt in prayer. Rising once more to his feet, the visitor, with palpitating heart and trembling limbs, walked backward, as if preparatory to making the run and leap; but in a twinkling he reached the skylight, and, before the madman could divine his intention, had leaped down it and disappeared.

Shortly afterward the lunatic came calmly down, and, his diabolical cunning taking another turn, pretended that he had only been joking. The visiting relative had to leave on that evening's train, but before going he recounted this experience to some friends of McPearson.

McPearson is now in confinement.

The Supply of Nickel.

Nickel is obtained from various localities in the United States and other countries, but the world's chief supply is said to have come thus far from the mines of a French company in New Caledonia, whose output has been about 1,000 tons yearly. At the copper mines near Sudbury, Ont., however, nickel has now been found in such quantity that Dr. Peters has offered to produce 2,000 tons of the metal annually. Late discoveries of nickel ore have also been made in the Ural. The increased supply will tend to increase its use in the various alloys with copper and steel.

Icebergs as Big as Mountains.

Can you grasp the idea that an iceberg such as has been recently reported, 700 feet high—that is, 700 feet out of the water—and 7 miles long, must weigh thousands of millions of tons? Icebergs are of fresh water, you see, with only about one-eighth of their bulk visible. This means a mountain of ice 5,600 feet high—higher and bigger than most of the Adirondacks; say about the size of Mt. Washington, not as we see it, but as it appears from the sea-level. Something has been happening up there among "Greenland's icy mountains"—what is it?

Man's Normal Weight.

A rule—which French physicians and scientific men say is a good one—to determine the normal weight of man is as follows: A man should weigh just as many kilograms as he measures centimetres in height, after deducting one metre. A man who measures 1 metre 80 centimetres (5 feet 11 inches) should weigh 80 kilograms, or about 160 lbs. The rule is both ingenious and approximately correct.

"I understand," said a handsome young woman, entering the printing-office, "that you employ only girls, and that you are in need of a forewoman."

"Yes," replied the managing editor, "can you make up a form in good style?"

"Just look at me, and see," she answered, turning herself around.

She was engaged.

"THE WORM WILL TURN."

Many of the more prominent negroes of North Carolina seem to have recently made a concerted and organized movement for protection against political masters who have become their political persecutors. It takes the form of a newspaper, published at the State capital, with John H. Williamson as editor. The party lash will meet with some mutinous spirits among the "dumb driven cattle" in the approaching campaign, and the party mandates will be addressed to many stubborn recalcitrants, if we are to judge by the following extract from the leading editorial of the first number of the paper:

There will be in a few days letters sent out inviting a conference of the leading gentlemen of the city of Raleigh or some other place, to take into consideration the many important questions that are now being discussed relative to the negro. The time has come, in our opinion, when the negro should act more for himself, and not allow himself to be shuffled and bartered by carpet-baggers and negro-haters as in the past. As it is said that we are liberated from our old masters, we now wish to be liberated from "Boss" Manning, "negro savage" Russell, Shaffer and the whole crew. The editor of this paper has a thousand times more respect for Gov. Fowle, ex-Gov. Jarvis, ex-Gov. Scales, Senator Vance and Senator Ransom than either of them. From such the negroes that is, the respectable portion of them—will rid themselves yet. Wait and see.

Unfortunately—for the benefit to accrue therefrom to the negro—this is a flourish of trumpets to a very old tune. After every Republican victory (and, alas! these victories have not been like "angels' visits, few and far between") the handful of whites address themselves to the enjoyment of the "flesh-pots," and ensconce themselves in the comforts and luxuries of fat places, while the great mass of the voters —the negroes—view from afar off this select and clannish apportionment of the emoluments of success. But, after a few "hoarse murmurs of discontent," they settle down to a stolid and patient endurance of their condition—ready to flock like sheep to the polls, over the old beaten track, at the next election.

Very ordinary common-sense should teach the colored man that the "scalawag" can hardly be a profitable friend or safe counselor—for, to attain his present status and complexion, he turned his back upon the traditions of his past and the best interests of his race and section; and that the "carpet-bagger" is at best but a tricky Moses to lead him out of the wilderness of his political bondage—for the "carpet-bagger" (we speak only of the "carpet-bagger" politician) is naught but a migratory bird, picking and gleaning in all outlying fields, a transient sojourner, whose mission is accomplished when his "grip-sack" is filled.

It is a little singular that, while the new Raleigh paper was established for the laudable purpose of securing the independence of the colored race, and fixing their position, its initial number makes an appeal for outside advice, though asserting in the next breath that the negro is able to take care of himself. If we have aught but the kindest and most friendly feelings toward the colored man we are not aware of it, but we cannot see wherein his condition is a problem demanding solution. He has about all the rights, under the law, enjoyed by the white man, with "no one to vex him or make him afraid." When he was captured by the recent exodus movement he was allowed to consult his inclinations in the matter without the slightest interference, at least from the large majority of the white people of North Carolina; he possesses the inestimable privilege of "sueing and being sued" in the courts—and, finally, if he insists upon it, he may continue to vote the Radical ticket, though we would be glad to see him mend the error of his ways, and attach himself to the party of good government. If he did so there would soon be no Republican party in this State.

AN "OBJECT LESSON."

Prof. Winston, of the University of North Carolina, has recently contributed a long and really able article to the State Chronicle under the title: "An Object Lesson in Education." One of the main objects of the communication is apparently to cover with adulation Prof. Moses, who was recently guilty of the ungracious act of slandering both his adopted and native States, and whose present position can certainly well afford to be softened by his friends with a more favorable light in the eyes of North Carolinians, if possible. We have no disposition to detract from the merits of Prof. Moses, and for all that he has done in the cause of education we, in common with other citizens of the State, make due acknowledgment. But, in our judgment, very considerable services would be offset by the manifest bitterness and malevolence with which he addressed himself to the task of insulting one whole class of our people—and which was used in Congress in the endeavor to bolster up a piece of pernicious legislation.

Unavoidably Delayed.

The importance and necessity of publishing the advertisement of the sale of land for taxes in this edition of the OBSERVER, and the late hour at which the copy was put into our hands—the work being necessarily delayed by the death of Sheriff Fisher—has made it impossible for us to get out this issue of the paper promptly on time. We feel certain that our friends will be indulgent to our tardiness on this occasion.

THE OBSERVER.

There is one of two things certain—THE OBSERVER is either a very good newspaper or the people are daily becoming greatly interested in Fayetteville — we hope both. Scarcely has there been a day during the past six months—not a week—but what more or less new subscribers have been added to our already large list.

For the kindly interest manifested by the friends of the paper in extending its circulation in this and adjoining counties, we shall ever feel profoundly grateful. How well it is appreciated at home and abroad as an advertising medium is attested by our advertising columns to-day, which speak more eloquently than any language we could command. Our circulation in Cumberland, Harnett, Moore, Chatham, Sampson, Duplin, Pender, New Hanover, Bladen, Robeson, Richmond, and Marion and Marlboro counties, South Carolina, is one that any paper might well feel proud of—while, of course, the circulation is by no means limited to the above named counties, for it circulates more or less all over the State and in every State in the Union with a few exceptions.

CORRECTNESS OF STYLE.

A friend, writing us a private letter, desires to know "what English writer may be selected as furnishing a model of correctness of style." We confess our inability to assume the role of critic in a matter so difficult; our correspondent also asks if we think that "among the men of letters of later days Irving has a superior." Emphatically, yes: Irving's pages are always smooth and pleasant, but they lack terseness, vigor and depth. By far his finest effort is his "Life of Oliver Goldsmith," but he is in every way inferior as a writer to Prescott, and no boy should attain the age of 20 years without having read Prescott's "Conquest of Mexico" or his "Conquest of Peru."

Generally it may be said that the writer may be safely followed as an exemplar whose style is characterized by simplicity and freedom from tawdry and florid ornamentation. Sir Piercie Shafton created no little amusement in the simple family of Dame Glendinning by his euphuistic extravagances; but three centuries of lopping and pruning have not sufficed to entirely eradicate this species of coarse, rank, weedy growth—and to-day there are many just such "cabbage-heads" in the field of journalism, fiction, biography, etc. A writer or speaker is impressive from the sterling quality of his ideas and not from the flaunting garb in which he clothes them, and euphonic words and phrases, spun out like highly-colored glass beads on a string, are very sorry "paste" as a substitute for the genuine article. Word-painting was long since given over, by common consent, to be the exclusive property of the academic shphomore.

ISSUES OF THE DAY.

As the political pot begins to "simmer" we are reminded that we have to elect, this year, a Chief Justice and Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the State; Superior Court Judges for the first, second, fourth, fifth, seventh, eighth, tenth and eleventh Judicial districts; Solicitors in all the twelve districts; nine members of Congress; fifty State Senators; one hundred and twenty members of the House of Representatives of North Carolina, and all county elective officers in ninety-six counties. We may therefore reasonably expect between now and the falling of the leaves some lively times.

In conversation with a Raleigh gentleman a day or so ago, much to our surprise we learned for the first time that some of the members of the Raleigh bar went so far as to say that not only did they not charge ex-Priest BOYLE anything for defending him the last time, but on the contrary would have defended him had it "cost them money out of their pockets." Of this we simply desire to say: we lament the fact sorely that there was not one, even, among the entire number to volunteer his services in the defense of the purity and virtue of a poor, helpless and ruined woman.

Obituary.

Mrs. Ora B. Phillips, beloved wife of Mr. Geo. S. Phillips, now residing in Wilmington, died in that city on Wednesday afternoon, 2nd inst., of pneumonia. The remains were brought to Fayetteville for interment on Thursday afternoon, and the funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. B. Oliver, took place from the Baptist Church on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Jas. Vann, a well-known citizen of this place, departed this life on the morning of the 7th inst., aged about 63 years The funeral services took place from the Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. W. B. Oliver, Rev. T. P. Barclay assisting, and the remains were interred with the honors and ceremonial of the order of Odd Fellows, of which the deceased was an esteemed member.

In this community the many old friends of the departed will read with deep regret the announcement of the death of Mrs. Martha J. Branson, which occurred on 29th ult., at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Charles. G. Launder, at Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Branson died of typhoid malaria, and was 63 years of age.

Total Visible Cotton Supply.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The total visible supply of cotton is as follows: For the world, 2,678,617; same last year, 2,441,022; American crop, 1,962,317; same last year, 1,866,622; crop in sight, 693,299; receipts, interior towns, 17,435; receipts, plantations, 25,246.

A son of A. H. H. Cowles, member of Congress from the 8th North Carolina district, a pupil at Horner's School, was accidentally killed on Tuesday, 8th inst., by the discharge of a pistol. His father was almost overcome by the shock when informed of the tragic occurrence.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle, and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use, and, after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store; large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

ST. HELENA, NAPA CO., CAL., May 1, '89.
To the citizens and afflicted of the Valley—I deem it my duty to give this recommendation without any solicitation on the part of the dealers in said medicine. In St. Joseph, Missouri, I was afflicted with an aggravated case of kidney trouble, and by accident I was offered a drink of Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer. After taking one gallon in four weeks, I felt like a new man. I can freely recommend it to any one having the above trouble.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine; made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies. He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store.

SAN MARCOS, TEX., Sept. 17, 1887.
MR. WM. RADAM:
Dear Sir—The Microbe Killer, I find, is a splendid thing. Can I get the Agency here? My little boy that was affected with worms is cured and getting fat and rosy. My father is also using your medicine, and is improving very fast. Very respectfully,
MRS. ALICE LEE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE PROVIDENT SAVINGS.

December 31 last the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society completed its fifteenth year, and the annual statement put out at that time was the best ever issued by this company. Nearly $150,000 were added to the assets, and January 1, 1890, this item reached $715,646. At the same time the surplus, by the actuaries four per cent. standard, was $368,899. The income for the year amounted to $1,360,814, disbursements to policy-holders $924,746, and expenses $369,812, making a total of $1,294,558. In the amount of new business matters the company fairly outdid itself. It issued 5,408 policies, insuring $19,172,197, an amount larger by nearly four million dollars than the largest business ever before written in a single year. At the close of 1889 there were in force 15,752 policies and $60,954,208 insurance, a gain of over $9,000,000 for the year.

The Provident Savings is the creation of its president, Sheppard Homans, whose high reputation as an actuary is not confined to this country by any means. He devised its plans on scientific principles, and arranged its rates with a view of affording life insurance at actual cost, and he has been eminently successful. His plans have brought life insurance within the reach of many heretofore unable to carry it, and have answered the wants of those desiring simple life insurance at a low cost, and at the same time on a safe basis. The Provident Savings offers protection at the lowest possible cost, and its financial ability to meet its obligations as they mature is unquestioned. Its plans are well worth attention and investigation.

We copy the above from the Detroit, Michigan, Indicator, an insurance journal of highest reputation, as a matter of interest to its many policy holders in Fayetteville and its vicinity. As will be seen, its financial standing is unquestioned and its progress phenomenal. Mr. GEO. H. HAIGH is the Special Agent, and J. S. JONES Manager of the Department of Virginia and the Carolinas.

JONESBORO, N. C., April 4, 1890.

J. S. Jones, Manager Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York, Richmond, Va.,

DEAR SIR:—Let me thank you, and through you your excellent Company, for the prompt payment of $2,000 in satisfaction of claim under policy number 22,259, on the life of John W. Berryman. The proofs were not received by the Company until last Thursday, 3rd of April, and the check for the full amount of policy was forwarded by return mail.

This claim, according to the terms of the policy, will not be due until July 3rd (or 90 days from receipt of proofs of death); hence you have shown not only ability but commendable liberality in thus paying the claim so far in advance. Yours truly,
A. J. SLOAN, Adm'r
of J. W. Berryman.

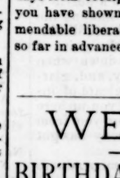
NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS.



The reason RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER is the most wonderful medicine is because it has never failed in any instance, no matter what the disease, from LEPROSY to the simplest disease known to the human system.

The scientific men of to-day claim and prove that every disease is CAUSED BY MICROBES,
—AND—
RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER
Exterminates the Microbes and drives them out of the system, and when that is done you cannot have an ache or pain. No matter what the disease, whether a simple case of Malaria Fever or a combination of diseases, we cure them all at the same time, as we treat all diseases constitutionally.

Asthma, Consumption, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Disease, Chills and Fevers, Female Troubles in all its forms, and, in fact, every Disease known to the Human System.

Beware of Fraudulent Imitations!

TOWN AND COUNTY.

The Manchester Mills Purchased.

The Manchester Mills, among the most important of the industries of Cumberland county and this section, have been purchased by Mr. F. W. Thornton, one of the most prominent business men of this city, and Mr. I. F. Clarke, no less well-known at Manchester, who will put 50 additional looms into the mill, equip the "plant" with the most improved machinery, and, generally, devote to the enterprise their best energies and most judicious management.

Southport as a Coaling Station.

A company has been recently organized at Southport, with a capital of $100,000, and officers chosen, for the purpose of establishing a coaling-station at that point, and to build wharves, operate dredges, etc. Southport is nearer the sea highway of vessels by more than 100 miles than Newport News, the only considerable coaling station on the South Atlantic coast, and the organization of this company is the natural outcome of the completion of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway.

Pleasure-Seekers with a Worthy Object.

The first ball of the spring season will be held in Brandt's Hall on Friday evening, 18th inst., and there is more than one reason why we particularly desire to see as general participation as possible in this entertainment. The young men—who are always very successful in their endeavors to make such occasions pleasant—hope to be able, through the proceeds of this ball, to discharge their indebtedness to the Centennial Committee—an indebtedness incurred in their efforts to increase the attractions of the Centennial Celebration, in the liquidation of which we feel certain that the community will aid. Tickets will be for sale at Mr. Tillinghast's, and will be necessary to secure admittance. The managers are: Messrs. J. B. Tillinghast, E. D. Kyle, D. McD. Huske, J. W. Moore, J. D. Williams, Jr. (2), Marsden Haigh.

Commissioners' Court.

The monthly meeting of the County Commissioners was held on Monday last—present: A. B. Williams, chairman; N. R. Blue, K. J. Rhodes, W. J. Buie, M. A. Gillis. The board, after the transaction of some other minor routine business, made the following appointments throughout the county of

LIST TAKERS:

Little River—M. D. McDonald.
Quwhiffle—A. J. Bethune.
Seventy-First—D. B. Gillis.
Carver's Creek—W. A. Tillinghast.
Cross Creek—Colin McRae.
Rockfish—John Smith.
Gray's Creek—Wm. Alderman.
Beaver Dam—Morris Hall.
Flea Hill—Cyrus Murphy.
Black River—D. J. McIntyre.
Cedar Creek—Jno. Evans.

Bridge bonds to the amount of $4,238.34, with accrued interest, having been paid by J. B. Troy, County Treasurer, were burned in the presence of the board.

It was ordered that the committee, consisting of A. B. Williams, A. A. McKethan and C. L. Taylor, appointed to audit the accounts of H. C. Fisher and J. B. Troy, be requested to act at once.

J. H. Smith, of Little River township, was appointed county surveyor, vice A. J. Bullard, resigned.

The office of sheriff of Cumberland county having been rendered vacant by the death of H. C. Fisher, the board proceeded to the appointment of his successor, resulting in the selection, by a unanimous vote, of Capt. J. B. Smith to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. At the afternoon session on Tuesday Capt. Smith tendered his bond, which was accepted, and received the oath of office.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The following resolutions, submitted by Mr. H. L. Cook, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Board of County Commissioners has heard of the death of Mr. H. C. Fisher, Sheriff of Cumberland county, with profound sorrow and regret.

Resolved, That in his death the county of Cumberland has lost an honorable and valued citizen and the people a faithful and capable officer of their county.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect to the deceased the members of this board attend the funeral services in a body.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the Fayetteville OBSERVER, with a request that they be published, and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That, as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, this board do now adjourn.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Klutz returned home last week from a pleasant southern trip.

Mr. C. B. Aycock, of Goldsboro, on his way to Bennettsville, S. C., on professional business, was registered at the Hotel LaFayette last Thursday. He is one of the ablest young men in public life in North Carolina, with a bright and honored career before him.

Mr. Rufus Rankin, of Richmond, Va., well-known and very popular here, spent Sunday and Monday in this city.

Mrs. Thos. H. Sutton has been for some time in Richmond, Va., procuring medical and surgical aid for the affliction of her little daughter—whom it is our fervent hope she may bring home restored to health.

Mrs. S. J. Hinsdale has been making a visit to Salem, where her daughter, Miss May Broadfoot, is a pupil of the justly celebrated Female Academy.

Maj. Geo. H. Hall, of Sylvester, Ga., now visiting Fayetteville, is welcomed by his friends in this section.

Mr. A. H. Watson, of this city, has been elected representative from Cross Creek Lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F., to the Grand Lodge of North Carolina, which meets in Wilmington next month.

Mr. Lilly B. Love, formerly a resident of Fayetteville, but now of Plain View, Robeson county, has been in the city for a few days on business.

Hon. W. J. Green returned this week from a pleasant visit to Sampson county.

Mr. Geo. Brandt is on North purchasing his spring stock of goods.

Rev. J. H. Crowell, President of Trinity College, spent the day here yesterday, the guest of T. H. Sutton, Esq.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McQueen, of Plain View, Robeson county, are registered at the Hotel LaFayette to-day.

It gave us pleasure to receive a call from Prof. Hamilton McMillan, a cultured scholar of Robeson county, to-day.

Manchester Cullings.

I have been away again—this time to a delightful place over on the Wilmington & Weldon R. R. I took my first trip over the Wilson Short Cut, through a good farming country, past thriving villages—thrift's sign boards—conspicuous everywhere.

Mrs. C. W. Huske, mother and sister spent Easter in Fayetteville, and returned Monday, bringing new life with them; opening up "Montelise" with Terpsichore as ruling queen, and some of Fayetteville's beauties as aid-de-camp.

Mr. Hagy, of Philadelphia, lent his majestic presence here last week.

Miss Janie McDiarmid, one of our favorite lassies, left last week for school at Faison.

Mrs. M. McD. Williams and wee Lewis are visiting Mrs. A. K. McDiarmid.

Miss L. G. Murchison peeped at her friends and relatives last week, and flitted to Wilmington.

Miss Jennie Meason, of Ancilla, Fla., is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. D. Clarke, and will spend the summer.

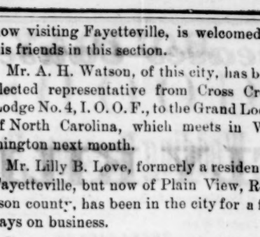
Mr. A. H. Slocomb and Master Frank tried angling here last week; didn't get a bite—but there's plenty of fish here.

Miss Sophie Buhman is visiting her friend, Mrs. J. F. Clarke.

Mr. F. W. Thornton and Mr. J. F. Clarke have purchased Manchester Mills. One and all will welcome them—especially the old operatives.

BON AMI.

SYRUP of FIGS



ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

WORD OF WARNING!

BEWARE OF FRAUDULENT IMITATIONS!

They are usually cheaper, as they use that method of imposing on the public. One of them held their price at $2.50 per gallon for nearly two years. Not being able to get their medicine in at that, they have now reduced it to $1.50, which is evidence enough that it has not met with success. A good medicine sustains itself in all communities. A cheap medicine is the last thing on earth a suffering man wants. The genuine sold only in one gallon jugs at $3.00 per gallon.

Cause of Disease, as Given by the Scientific Men of the Age.

Monsieur Pasteur, who for years has made them a special study, first discovered that minute insects were the causes of spreading the most deadly contagious through their astonishing rapidity of reproduction. Pasteur discovered them in myriads in human blood, in sheep and rabbits and rats. He found that the Microbe was the direct cause of the Variolosis, or Smallpox—Bronchitis, Yellow Fever and other contagious diseases.

The Microbe in the human system attacked by Variolosis is thread-like, cylindrical, somewhat swelled. It is the smallest of all powerful magnified animal organism. It breeds by the thousand per minute. Pasteur, after making a close study of the Microbe, discovered that the quickest way to exterminate them was by the free inhalation of Oxygen gas, or by liquids charged with that gas; but admits that the time must come when some powerful liquid will be discovered that will effectually destroy the Microbe, and that liquid must contain such gaseous combinations as will directly destroy, in the human body, those germs or microbes of disease.

Dr. Maolangan, a prominent member of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, says:

The idea that many of the diseases to which man and the lower animals are subject result from the presence in the system of minute organisms or microbes, is not a new one

The introduction of the microscope, the discovery of the yeast plant, and the further parasitic nature of many cutaneous diseases have proved conclusively that it is attributable to the Germ or Microbe Theory of Disease

This theory has positively proved that many diseases are due to the presence and propagation in the system of minute living organizations. It is essential, therefore, to become thoroughly acquainted with the class, kind, very competence of the Germs that produce what is now termed the Phenomena of Disease.

Contagious Infection is created, by absolute experience and scientific experiments and proofs. by the existence of minute organisms or microbes The contagion, or microbe, being irregularly scattered about in the atmosphere, it is evident that the inhalation of one or more of these particles is purely a matter of chance Yet by such inhalation, no matter how healthy and strong the man or animal thus inhaling it, it will as a matter of course, be stricken down, sooner or later, by the myriads of microbes that will, according to the contagious poisonous matter inhaled, breed into his system. To exterminate those it has been found that liquids strongly impregnated with gases and alkalis have been the most efficacious, and it is but a matter of time when a liquid strongly impregnated with those substances will be discovered that will effectually destroy the microbes or Germs of Disease

It is an organic form of such extreme minuteness as to be classified under the head of Micrococci. The Microbe is spheroidal, transparent and of gelatinous consistency. It enters the human system by inhalation, or exists in the water or milk we drink, or the food we eat. It is able to stand the greatest amount of heat. By the most careful study and frequent experiments, microbes have been inducted, by ivory needles, into meats that have been thoroughly roasted and boiled, and yet, when taken from the ovens, pans, gridirons or pots, the microbes have been found to be yet alive and propagating, thus showing that even cooking has no effect on them.

Prof. Tyndall says of Microbes: They are found in myriads and countless shapes, floating in the air, destroying man, as well as beasts and vegetation. The virtual triumph of the antiseptic system of surgery is based on recognition of living contagia or microbes, as the agent of purification; and, the discovery made, it behooves the closest study of the subject by the physician, surgeon, chemist, agriculturist, in fact by all men, to discover some powerful liquid substance, being charged with some so far undiscovered gaseous substance, that will penetrate through every tissue of the human animal or vegetable system, and effectually destroy the death-dealing pest, the microbe.

The word Microbe was first introduced by Prof. Charles Sedillot and indorsed by the great philologist Little, who caused its adaptation by the Academie de Sciences of France, and thus had it admitted as a scientific term to be used by all scientists.

Science has taught us that the direct causes of contagious diseases are directly attributable to a minute, invisible, yet death-dealing insect, feeding, living on the germs of corruption inhaled, absorbed in the system, whether human, animal or vegetable.

It is designated in Science as the Microbe: the most deadly of all animalculae, propagating millions, and spreading disease wherever it makes its appearance. The extermination of that curse to the human race has taxed the ablest scientists, who have devoted hours of study in each and every branch of their different researches, to check the frightful inroads made by the Microbe upon whatever it attacks.

Wm. Radam, a florist and a botanist of Austin, Texas, who, from his early boyhood, had been brought up to take care of and watch tenderly over the plants, seeding slips, that were extensively grown in his farther's world-famed nurseries, having frequently seen his favorite plants suddenly droop and die, was the first to make the Microbe his special study, and its extermination the object of his life.

Fortunately for William Radam, he was able to command the means that enabled him to purchase the instruments needed to perfect his experiment, as he patiently advanced in his studies of the microbe. He was not the man to rely merely on book learning, though he studied the theories advanced by scientists.

William Radam, after years of patient study and analysis, found the true origin of the Germs of Disease, and by a secret inspired by Nature's close study was able to produce what will be read below as the exterminator of the dreadful scourge Microbe—as recommended by the greatest authorities, and world-famed authorities, on that subject, who all admit that to exterminate the pest and scourge requires just such a liquid, surcharged with gases, as William Radam's Microbe Killer.

Testimonials.

Now read the testimonials and convince yourself if they are genuine or not. Please investigate, I will forfeit $1,000 if you find any of our testimonials not genuine. We will give address, so that you can write to any of them. Please do not forget to inclose a stamp, and you certainly will receive an answer. We have a great many other testimonials in our office and have the consent to show them to the afflicted—but have no authority to publish them. From the following testimonials you can see at a glance that this medicine cures every disease:

Consumption.

Pasadena, May 13, 1889.—Microbe Killer Co. I can recommend Radam's Microbe Killer for the cure of consumption I have been sick four years I have employed the best physicians in San Francisco, San Jos , Los Angeles, and I am now taking my fifth jug of William Radam's Microbe Killer. I have gained fourteen pounds in three months, and I note a steady improvement. The medicine has accomplished more for me in the short time I have tried it than all the doctors and the outlay of $7,000, and I hope all my friends who are afflicted in the same way I was will use it.

J. F. RENOULT.

Formerly of San Francisco, now a resident of Pasadena

Complicated Disease.

Sacramento April 3, 1889.—Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer Co.—Gentlemen: I take pleasure in adding my testimonials to that of others who have been cured by the virtue of your medicine. I have been afflicted for several years, and for the last three or four years have not been able to work, having been confined to my bed a good deal of my time. My system was so thoroughly poisoned from catarrh of over thirty years standing in connection, with the alarming symptoms of malaria and diseased liver, that life was a burden. As a result, the liver, kidney, urinary organs, heart, bronchial tubes and lungs were ill involved, causing dyspepsia, neuralgia and rheumatism, with many alarming indescribable symptoms. Have been under the care of physicians and taken all the popular patent physics and medicines of the day, and belt, batteries and baths without avail, and had almost given up hope of relief. Put one of God's good and perfect gifts to man (through the instrumentality of man) was made known to me by a letter to my wife from her father, a man of seventy-six, in Albany, Mo., stating that Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer was curing all diseases given up by physicians, and advising me to use it and not give it up until a cure is effected. Coming from the source it did, I at once had two gallons expressed from St. Joseph, Mo., costing me $3 per gallon, but the cheapest medicine I ever took. Commenced taking it in December last. Have taken seven gallons and have been improving slowly, but surely. Have now gained my usual weight, and feel better than for years. Am over 60 years of age. No money would induce me to be without it in my family. I hear many good reports from those who are now using it. Yours respectfully, etc.

L. L. GODDARD.

Dyspepsia

Lynchburg, Texas.—Messrs. Wallace O'Leary & Co., Agents Radam's Microbe Killer, Houston, Texas: My sufferings from dyspepsia and bayou fever made my life a misery, and at times I was so despondent as to care little to live, when I heard of your great medicine, and purchased a gallon. It gives me pleasure to inform you that before a gallon had been used $1,000 could not have bought the remainder of the gallon had I not known where to get more.

Yours truly,

CAPT. GEO. L. SMITH.

Dysentery.

Galveston, Texas, March 10, 1888.—A Behrends, Agent for Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer.—Dear Sir: I have been suffering for years with a complicatio of diseases which originated from diseased liver. I had dysentery, bloody flux and internal tumors. I consulted some of the most eminent physicians in the city, and used their medicines for a long time without getting any relief. I was finally given up to die, when a friend advised me to try the Microbe Killer. As the last resort, I gave it a trial, and the relief it gave me was wonderful. When I commenced to take Microbe Killer I weighed only eighty-six pounds; my present weight is 144 pounds, and I am restored to my usual good health.

JOHN W. DERRICK.

Sworn to and subscribed to before me this 10th day of March, A. D. 1888. JOHN A. CAPLEN,
Notary Public; Galveston Co. Tex.

San Marcos, Tex., Sept. 17, 1887.—Mr. William Radam—Dear Sir: The Microbe Killer, is a splendid thing. Can I get the agency here? My little boy that was affected with worms is cured and getting fat and rosy. My father is also using your medicine, and is improving very fast. Very respectfully,
MRS. ALICE LEE.

Deaf & Dumb Institute, Austin Texas, July 11, 1888—Mr. William Radam—Dear Sir: I certify that I have been a great sufferer with pains in my chest, catarrh in the head, and headache for years. I have spent hundreds of dollars in travelling in Colorado, Utah, California, Oregon, Montana, Wyoming and Minnesota, and found no relief. I have used four gallons of your medicine and I am almost entirely well. My headache and catarrh are gone. I am still using the medicine. I will send another gallon to my brother.
W. H. LACY, Superintendent

Houston, Texas, October 9, 1888.—Messrs. Wallace O'Leary & Co., Agents William Radam's Microbe Killer—Gentlemen: I have been using the Microbe Killer for malarial fever and general debility, and write you to certify that I am again strong and healthy, and am satisfied that Microbe Killer is a sure remedy for those diseases.

R. E. LEWIS,
Prop. Capital Stables.

Nashville, Tenn.—I have been a sufferer from Asthma, Catarrh and Bronchitis for nearly twenty years. I have tried the best physicians and remedies without any relief and now, since I have been taking Microbe Killer, I am entirely cured and can recommend it to all.

M. HERSSEIN, J. P.
Nashville, Tenn.

To Whom it may Concern:—This is to certify that after taking one jug of Microbe Killer I was permanently cured of a severe attack of bronchitis and pulmonary inflammation, said illness having resisted all methods of medical treatment.

I cheerfully recommend Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer as being more than is claimed for it.

HENRY V. MIELLY,
With Rice Born & Co., 77 Camp street New Orleans, February 27, 1887.

The only case of Leprosy ever known to have been cured by any medicine. James Kavanagh, Jr, is now entirely recovered and is back again in New Orleans. We are treating five other cases of Leprosy, all successfully.

Fifth District, New Orleans, July 23, 1888—To whom it may concern: I positively assert that my son was afflicted with that most hideous and loathsome of diseases, Leprosy, and of a character most malignant. Any persons who may be skeptical regarding this case are most cordially invited to call and see him now, or at an early date at my residence, No. 167 Eliza St, Algiers, Fifth District of New Orleans, because if not seen soon and he continues to improve as he has since beginning to use Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, they will not have an opportunity of giving an honest verdict concerning his case.

Respt'y, James Kavanah.

Algiers, Fifth District of New Orleans, July 24, 1889.—I, the undersigned, do hereby declare that I have been afflicted with Leprosy for over four years. My sickness has been declared Leprosy by the leading physicians and the public generally, being entirely abandoned and left alone to die, but thanks to Mr. Radam, whose medicine or Microbe Killer I have been using for five weeks with the most beneficial results, I am satisfied that by continuing his great and wonderful remedy a few months longer I shall be able to go to work and support my poor and aged father, upon whom I have been a drawback in his declining years.

JAS. KAVANAGH, Jr.

Heart Disease

Radam's Microbe Killer Co.—Gentlemen: My son, 14 years of age, was cured with less than one gallon of Radam's Microbe Killer, after being given up by physicians as incurable with enlargement of the heart. My wife was also cured of a severe bronchial trouble after a failure on the part of the physicians to relieve her

I confess it far superior to all known remedies.

R. B. KIRKPATRICK.
Saeramento, Cal., April 27, 1889.

Rheumatism.

Nov. 14, 1888.—The William Radam Microbe Killer Co.—Gentlemen: Having tried every suggested remedy for Chronic Rheumatism for more than ten years, I was dubious as to the efficacy of your Microbe Killer, but am frank to admit that a cure, (and I hope a permanent one) was the result after having taken not quite the entire jug you sent me according to directions. Accept my thanks. I am dear sir, respectfully yours,

FRANCIS P. DOOLY.
Knoxville, Pa.

New York, Sept. 25, 1888—Wm. Radam Microbe Killer Co.—Gentlemen: In reply to your inquiry as to the effect the Microbe Killer had on me, I would say that if it cost me $100 per gallon, I would not be without it. I took it three weeks, and am now free of all pains and aches. I suffered for the past ten years with muscular rheumatism, and it has been so bad at times as to prevent my attending to business. Very truly yours,

JOHN BLAKEY,
233 Broadway, N. Y.

Kidney Troubles.

Philadelphia, March 30, 1889, S. E. Corner Fourth and Market Streets.—Wm. Radam—Dear Sir:—I have had kidney troubles for three years, accompanied with pains and aching across my back and hips. Suffered very much at times; at night I had pains across the lower part of the abdomen; had considerable inflammation at the neck of the bladder. In general, it almost broke me up. I could get no relief from anything I had taken until I commenced with your Microbe Killer. I feel now like a new person; I will further explain my case to any one writing me. I would advise any one with any disease of the kidneys to use the Microbe Killer.

ELWOOD PICKETT.

Piles.

St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 15, 1889.—By using Radam's Microbe Killer I have been cured of piles of many years standing.

JOHN LATHEM,
Room 2, Opera House Building.

Frightful Torture

By the ravages of Rheumatism can be stopped with slight cost if you use Radam's Microbe Killer. By external as well as internal treatment you get almost instant relief.

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER CO.:

Dear Sirs:—Having suffered with Rheumatism of the nerves for three years, I used five gallons of the Microbe Killer, and I feel entirely cured. I have the greatest confidence in recommending its use, and will keep it on hand as a general tonic. If you desire you can refer any suffering from same disease to me. Respectfully,

MRS. W. L. DELACY,
Oak Park, Ill.

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER CO.:

Gentlemen:—I have had your medicine, Microbe Killer, in my family ever since I heard of it last summer. My health has been excellent ever since I began taking it. My family, so far, has escaped la grippe that has been afflicting our neighbors and every body else. I firmly believe in the Microbe theory, and shall never be without the Killer.

PEMBERTON'S BOOK AND MUSIC STORE—Wedding and Birthday Presents.

New Depot.

The depot at Hope Mills, one of the best stations on the line of the southern extension of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, has been torn down, and a new building will be erected forthwith, nearer adequate to the increased business of that thriving place.

Exchange o. Courts.

Governor Fowle has authorized an exchange of courts, whereby his Honor, Judge Jas. C. MacRae, of this city, will preside at the June term of Richmond Court, beginning June 2nd, and Judge Brown will hold the April term of Wayne Superior Court, beginning April 14th.

Professor Graham's Success.

While there is little cause for surprise, yet the many friends of Prof. Alex. Graham, of this city,—who was for many years principal of the Fayetteville Graded School—will learn with pleasure that this ripe scholar has been re-elected Superintendent of the Charlotte Graded School without opposition.

Annual Meeting of the N. C. M. S.

The North Carolina State Medical Society will hold its thirty-seventh annual meeting in Oxford, May 27th to 29th inclusive. Fayetteville will be well represented, as she is always on such occasions, and by such talent as will reflect credit upon our refined and cultured community.

Off for Athens, Ga.

Mr. J. L. Prior left Monday afternoon for Athens, Ga., whither he has gone to embark in the drug business at that place. Mr. Prior leaves behind scores of warm and admiring friends to wish for him in his home that full measure of success to which his untiring energies and faithful application to business eminently entitle him.

Election of Officers.

The regular annual meeting of the Carolina Club was held on Saturday evening, April 5th, when the following officers were elected for the new year:

J. R. Williams, President.
A. J. Cook, Treasurer.
Jas. Kyle, Secretary.

Directors: Thos. McGilvary, A. J. Pemberton and Andrew Broadfoot.

The Club is now in a highly satisfactory condition, financially and otherwise, with its membership constantly increasing.

Getting Things in Readiness.

The tents and other camp equipages for the surveying corps of the Southern extension of the Wilson & Fayetteville Railroad arrived here last Friday, and Mr. J. W. Morriss, of the Atlantic Coast Line, who has just returned from Greenville, where the surveying party assigned to this work has been located for some time past, says the party will be here, he thinks, not later than the 18th inst. and possibly by the 15th, as published in the OBSERVER of several days ago. For the past few days the company has been at work laying a side track to the bucket factory in the southern part of the city.

"Hale's Woods and Timbers of North Carolina."

As we learn from the Raleigh papers, another edition of Mr. P. M. Hale's "Woods and Timbers of North Carolina" has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture—a most valuable work indeed, for which there is an active demand at this time, the first edition having been exhausted sometime ago. Fayetteville does and has every reason to feel proud of her gifted and talented sons who have done so well their part in laying before the readers of the 19th century the many and, we may say, almost inexhaustible resources of their native State. Having long since been consigned to the dust from whence they came, and further we can say: "Well done thou good and faithful servants, enter thou into the rest in that mansion above, not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens."

Lynchburg & Durham R. R.

A corps of surveyors of the Lynchburg & Durham Railroad are at present south of Durham, surveying a line between the latter town and Fayetteville. We understand, however, that two routes will be surveyed before the southern extension is decided upon; yet all indications point unmistakably, at present, to Fayetteville as the objective point. Being at the head of navigation on the great Cape Fear River, few, if any, points in the State offer such advantages as Fayetteville for the terminus of a railroad traversing the country south of Durham, or, we may say, the old North Carolina railroad. This, however, is only one of the many advantages Fayetteville possesses, all of which will be given a patient hearing in due time.

Fayetteville Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Fayetteville convenes in the Presbyterian Church next Tuesday night (April 15th), and will be opened with a sermon from the retiring Moderator, Rev. P. R. Law, of Lumberton.

The spring meeting of Presbytery is always an interesting one, and this year there are several important questions to be discussed. Among them is one of general interest: whether the "tithe" or giving of one-tenth to the yearly income of the Lord is binding on all christians. Another is as to the right or wrong of voluntary organizations for christian work, as Missionary societies, Young Men's Christian Associations, and such organizations.

It is probable that there will be preaching every night during the session. Rev. W. D. Morton, State Evangelist, is expected to address Presbytery, and then remain to conduct a series of meetings in the Presbyterian Church. His reputation is that of an able, earnest preacher of the good old Gospel of our fathers. His success in such work in Kentucky and Missouri led to his selection for the important position he now holds in the Synod of North Carolina. Good results are hoped for and expected from this meeting.

The meetings of Presbytery are open to all, and, as a rule, are of general interest.

Our personal acquaintance with, and knowledge of, the retiring Moderator, Rev. P. R. Law, justifies us in predicting a rare treat in store for those who may be so fortunate as to hear his remarks. Learned gentleman, ripe scholar and consecrated christian that he is, he never fails to entertain as well as enthuse his audience with his talks on whatever subject he may select.

Memorial Services.

Illustrious leaders of the South have taken their places in the "bivouac of the dead," and the wearied chieftain has sought rest by the side of his men, since the draped flag and muffled drum a year ago started the rising tear, and stirred the soft whisper of the fervent prayer.

We thank God that through twenty-five checkered years the true, good women of Fayetteville have never faltered in their devotion to the sentiment of this solemn ceremonial, and from each 10th of May—bathed in the balm of spring and roseate with its bloom—incense sweet goes up to heaven. It is hoped to make the exercises unusually beautiful and impressive this year, and it gives us pleasure to announce that Mr. Walter H. Neal, of Laurinburg, a talented and prominent member of the North Carolina bar, has accepted the invitation to deliver the annual address.

Mrs. Thos. H. Sutton, President of the Ladies' Memorial Association, is expected to return home to-morrow or the day after, and there will be a meeting of the Association in Williams Hall at 5 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, 15th inst. We may be permitted to urge a large attendance upon this meeting, as a general participation in the arrangements for the proper observance of the occasion is very desirable.

We wish particularly to emphasize the fact that all the ladies of Cumberland county are members of the Memorial Association—without the form of ballot or the payment of an initiation fee. Will they not be present at the coming meetings, and extend their aid to the success of that which we all have so deeply at heart?

The New Sheriff.

With all the cordiality of our nature we congratulate Capt. J. B. Smith upon his appointment to the office of high sheriff of Cumberland county, to fill the unexpired term of the late H. C. Fisher.

Capt. Smith has been for many years a leading man in the Democratic party, and in 1884 was prominent before the county convention as a candidate for the position into which he has just now been inducted, his competitor being the veteran and esteemed public officer and servant, Robt. W. Hardie—at which time, after a very animated contest, the nomination was given to the lamented Neill McQueen.

Few men are better known than the new sheriff throughout the realm over which he has been called to exercise executive functions. The writer's acquaintance with him is that of a lifetime, and he knows him to be a man of warm heart and generous impulses, with a coolness, nerve and self-possession withal which give guarantee of the satisfactory performance of even the arduous duties which he will now be called upon to discharge.

"The Dispersed Abroad."

It gives us pleasure to note in the Times-Journal of Eastman, Ga., substantial evidences of the prosperity of North Carolinians who have sought more favored opportunities farther south. Mr. Junius A. Williams, a native of this section, and now residing in Dodge county, Ga., and Mr. J. P. Williams, formerly of Wayne county, now living in Chatham county, Ga., are named among the incorporators of the "Dixie Land and Investment Company"—an enterprise doubtless destined to be a potent factor in the industrial development of that State. May their good fortune and prosperity equal their most sanguine expectations.

An Electric Flash of the Right Sort.

On Monday morning at 7:52 o'clock the news of the death of Sheriff Fisher was telegraphed to Mr. Thos. H. Sutton in Richmond, Va., via the Postal Telegraph and Commercial Cable Company's line. It was handed by the messenger to Mr. Sutton at 8 o'clock—consuming, allowing for a difference in time, from 18 to 20 minutes in its receipt, transmission and delivery. Mr. A. H. Slocomb notes an instance where a telegram from Fayetteville was delivered to him in New York city at the expiration of 24 minutes—certainly very quick work.

Mr. John Williams, of Wilmington, was in the city this week.

St. John's Vestry.

At a meeting of the congregation of St. John's Episcopal Church on Monday evening last the following were elected Vestrymen for the current year: Dr. S. J. Hinsdale, Hon. J. C. MacRae, Hon. R. P. Buxton, Col. Chas. Haigh, Maj. W. F. Campbell, Messrs. W. N. Tillinghast, Jno. C. Haigh, Jr., B. R. Huske, A. H. Slocomb, H. R. Horne, S. J. Walton, F. R. Rose.

Exchange of Pulpits.

Should nothing unforeseen occur to prevent his filling the engagement, Rev. W. B. Oliver leaves here this afternoon for Wilmington, where he will assist Dr. Pritchard in a protracted meeting now in progress in his church, and will occupy his pulpit next Sunday, while this community will have the pleasure of hearing Dr. Pritchard in the 1st Baptist Church here at that time.

The Wilson Mirror.

This bright and sparkling jewel in the North Carolina journalistic arena has just closed the pages of its eighth volume, with the only and original Henry Blount as editor-in-chief; and, much to the delight of its many friends all over the State, enters upon its ninth volume "with all sails set and the breezes fair." Our best wishes attend the Mirror, our hearty congratulations to its warm-hearted, generous and chivalrous editor, whose facile pen scatters sunshine and roses along the thorny path of life.

Jurors.

The following good men and true were drawn at the last meeting of the county commissioners to serve as jurors at the spring term of the Superior Court of Cumberland county:

FIRST WEEK.

J. J. Blanchard, A. J. Brannon, T. H. Holmes, C. Deans, J. F. Bobbitt, Carlton Carter, S. A. Wade, D. J. Culbreth, S. F. McDaniel, D. G. Jackson, J. M. Bruton, W. O. McDonald, T. H. Maultsby, J. T. Townsend, Beatty Fisher, Wm. Johnson, Stephen Kinlaw, J. E. Davis, John Culbreth, Green Ingram, D. J. Ray, Wiley Cain, G. W. Starling, B. R. Carter, Thos. Bullock, Alex. Sessoms, A. J. Wheeler, J. K. McDonald, W. J. Pope, D. J. Bradshaw, James Pope, I. D. Black, Jno. G. McDuffie, C. F. Nixon, Daniel Ellis, W. W. Cole.

SECOND WEEK.

R. Gainey, J. B. Pattishall, Henry Whitehead, Josh R. Council, C. F. Campbell, D. D. Jones, S. R. Surles, W. R. Biggs, G. R. Royal, Daniel G. Blue, J. O. Davis, M. McCraney, W. J. McCraney, A. J. Bullard, H. J. Williford, P. N. Talbot, L. P. West, D. M. Campbell.

"This Is Magnificent Judicial Work."

The State Chronicle, summing up the work done at the last term of the Superior Court of Wake county, speaks thus of the ability and capacity for the dispatch of business of the presiding judge:

Superior Court closed yesterday, after a session of seven days, in which 86 cases were cleared from the docket. One of these cases took up three whole days of the session, so it appears that 85 cases were disposed of in four days. This is magnificent judicial work, and its accomplishment is largely due to the energy and striking ability of the learned Judge MacRae who presided. He won here, both from the bar and the public generally, a splendid reputation. Raleigh people are in love with him, and country people laud him. He dallies not in the discharge of business. His decisions and rulings are made without lingering hesitation, and the moment they are made they appear to strike home; in other words, they are so clear and just that even those ignorant of the law can see the justness and fairness of which they are full.

There is general commendation here of his delivery on the Boyle applause matter. The good people of Raleigh thank him for so ably and forcibly expressing their sentiments in regard to that affair.

Dr. Buxton's Farewell Sermon.

Herewith appended will be found the closing words of Dr. Jarvis Buxton's farewell sermon as rector of the Episcopal Church in Asheville, for which the preacher selected as his text Romans x: 2, "Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer for Israel is, that they might be saved;" and the Citizen very appropriately adds: "which words of the worthy apostle were a worthy description of the life work of the good preacher, as was felt and acknowledged by all of his hearers, many of whom had been baptized by his hands in infancy and grown up to be men and women under the influence of his teaching, and commended daily to God's mercy in his prayers."

Said Mr. Buxton in conclusion:

"Finally, dear brethren, let me thank you, one and all, for the numerous kindnesses which you have heaped upon me during the past forty years, of which my heart is filled with many and sweet memories; during these years we have passed together through scenes of trial and sorrow, and of joy and happiness, each of which has made its impress on my heart. Nor is my gratitude limited to members of my own congregation, but most sincerely do I appreciate and mention to-day the frequent acts of kindly sympathy which I have received from other christian brethren. Daily shall 'my heart's desire and prayer to God' ascend for these dear friends, for their temporal and eternal welfare, and especially in regard to christians, whether called by the name of 'Protestant Episcopal' or any other, that a speedy answer may be granted to the prayer of our common Lord, 'That they may all be one even as we are one,' and that we may soon be drawn together into one fold under the blessed guidance of One Shepherd."

Dr. Buxton announced his intention to continue his connection with the parish for one year as rector emeritus, which he had decided to do in response to the solicitation of his people; and then closed his lifelong rectorship by pronouncing the following benediction: "The God of peace, who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, the great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant; make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well pleasing in his sight; through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen."

Mr. James McGilvary, Jr., a native of Fayetteville, and now residing at Greenville, Miss., is spending a short time with friends and relatives at home.

Religious Notes.

Sunday morning's announcements in the Presbyterian Church, from the developments made at the congregational meeting of the Thursday evening previous, were very gratifying. From the reports submitted we are informed that the church is now free of debt, and has added 113 to its membership during the past year. There is little danger of the "dry rot" seizing any institution of which such a man as Rev. T. P. Barclay is the head:—Able and convincing preacher, zealous and affectionate pastor, devoted and conscientious servant of the Master.

Rev. J. T. Gibbs, Presiding Elder of this district, filled the pulpit of the Hay Street Methodist Church on Sunday morning—concerning whose discourse he is so well known in this community that it is superflous for us to make commendatory comment.

Easter services at the Episcopal Church were ushered in by the beautiful procession and choral exercise of the children of St. John's parish, who in gala dress and bearing wreaths, garlands and bouquets of flowers, wound into the churchyard from the lecture-room, and entered the church, singing to the organ accompaniment, while they grouped themselves about the chancel, the anthem:

Come, faithful people, come away,
Your homage to your saviour pay:
It is the Easter Feast to-day,
Hosanna in the Highest!
Crowned with sharp thorns and crucified,
For us the Lord of Glory died:
Water and blood poured from His Side,
Hosanna to the Highest!

The flowers were then received and arranged, while the carol was given:

Hark the Easter Bells are ringing!
Let the children songs be singing,
And sweet flowers now be bringing,
For the Lord is risen to-day!

The Easter offerings were tendered at the altar, two little boys receiving them, and the choir then sang, as the children filed up the aisles: "All things are of Thee, O Lord, and of Thine own have we given Thee. Amen."

The sermon of Rev. Thos. Atkinson was meet to the occasion—polished and well-conceived—and the choir music was superb. Especially was Miss Barker's Offertory solo an artistic and highly-finished rendition, hardly surpassed by anything we have previously heard even from her—in choir music.

A most interesting, instructive and profitable meeting was held in the 1st Baptist Church on Sunday evening, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, in which appropriate and edifying remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. W. B. Oliver, and Mr. W. B. Malloy, and an important letter from the Missionary Society was submitted.

Death of Sheriff Fisher.

Although the illness of Sheriff H. C. Fisher—commencing with an attack of la grippe, and developing into severe pneumonia—had given his family and intimate friends alarm from the beginning of his seizure, the announcement of his death last Sunday afternoon, 6th inst., had in it the violence of a shock to the community generally. In the prime of life, of robust physique, it was natural to expect that he had by means completed the span of his life.

Henr C. Fisher, aged 45 years, was born and reared under the peaceful conditions of a simple but prosperous farm life; and, in the qualities which he developed as an efficient public officer and an esteemed and trusted public servant, he had to thank more the inherent, solid worth of his character than the accidents of opportunity and position. He was nominated in 1882 for the office of Register of Deeds of Cumberland County, and in the campaign succeeding evinced such force as an organizer and such strength from his personal popularity that he was again and again honored by the Democratic party for the position, all the duties of which he performed with correctness and fidelity until he was placed in the office of sheriff—first by appointment after the death of Neill McQueen, and afterwards by the suffrages of his fellow-citizens, whose confidence he repaid by his zeal and capacity in the discharge of the trusts committed to his hands.

The funeral services—attended by large numbers from both county and town—took place from the Baptist Church at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon last, the remains being escorted to the cemetery by the Masons and Odd Fellows, of which the deceased was a member, in a body. The devotional exercises were conducted by Revs. W. B. Oliver, T. P. Barclay, C. W Byrd, and J. T. Gibbs, the last-named delivering the opening prayer; after eloquent remarks by Revs. C. W. Byrd and W. B. Oliver, Rev. T. P. Barclay addressed the congregation as follows:

It is better to go to the house of mourning than to go to the house of feasting; for that is the end of all men, and the living will lay it to his heart.—Ecclesiastes, vii: 2.

Again we are called together to the house of sorrow. Again we are brought face to face with the fact of our mortality and reminded of the frailty of human life. It sometimes seems to me that when the superior beings in the realms above hear the sighs, the groans, the lamentations, that rise up as a cloud of incense from a sorrowing world, this earth must seem to them a veritable house of wailing.

When they see procession after procession filling the highways that lead to our cemeteries, this sin-cursed world must be in their sight one vast burying-place of humanity's dead.

The storm, the flood, the pestilence combine to scatter death and destruction all over our fair land.

The cyclone with its mighty breath smites the massive structures that man has built, and Louisville sits in sackcloth and ashes.

The floods rise above the loftiest embankments and sweep away the strongest breakwaters, and New Orleans trembles by day, and by night starts nervously at the sound of every breeze, lest it may be the coming of the great river rushing in to overwhelm her.

As the waters spread wider and still wider over town, village, and fertile field, thousands of men, women and little children, houseless and homeless, send out piteous cries for succor from starvation or watery graves.

And then the dread pestilence, that steals silently through our community by night and by day, lays his restless hand on one and another of our public men, or leaves vacant by the hearth-stone the place once filled by those we loved and cherished.

Among the victims the dread destroyer has taken from our midst is he whose loss we mourn to-day, H. C. Fisher, high Sheriff of Cumberland County; a man loved and honored by his fellow-citizens; a man time and again entrusted with offices the execution of whose duties demanded the highest integrity of character and no mean degree of financial ability. I listened to the expression of opinion on all sides; the popular verdict seems to be that in all cases he proved faithful to the trust committed to his care. And now, more enduring than monument of brass, outlasting the pyramid of stone, his memory shall remain green in the hearts of his friends while life shall last.

Friends and associates of our departed brother, would you testify to the reality of your professions of esteem and affection, then behold the legacy he has left you. See the widow and the orphans in their helpless grief, and let it be yours to share their sorrows and to minister comfort and aid in their time of need.

But we are not here to-day to deal with the dead. Neither prayers nor tears avail for him whose mortal remains are here, while his spirit has returned to the God who gave it.

Our words are to the living; and where but in the never-failing word of God shall we find comfort or instruction? In vain does human reason strive to solve the deep mystery of such a bereavement as this. But, sorrowing ones, hear, hear our Gracious Lord and Savior say, "what I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." Oh, then, trust his wisdom, trust his power, trust his boundless, never-failing love, and be at peace. In agreement with the text read in your hearing is an ancient Arabian proverb: "If you hear lamentation in a house enter, but if invited to the house of feasting pass not over the threshold." On this point the world rejects both the Scripture doctrine and the Oriental philosophy. Nevertheless here is the truth. It is better to go to the house of mourning than to the house of feasting.

Do you ask why it is better?

I answer first, because we are not needed in the house of feasting. When the banquet is spread and the invitations given there is no lack of response to the welcome call. The house is easily filled; no seats are left vacant. Where mirth abounds and joy is unconfined the votaries of pleasure willingly come together. But, when death visits the home, and bereavement and sorrow bring gloom and sadness, not always are the friends of our days of sunshine ready to respond to our cry of distress. Then we realize the need of the tear of sympathy and the word of comfort. Yes, it is better to go to the house of mourning, because there is need for us there.

Again, it is better because we can do more good in the house of mourning. In the house of feasting and revelry the ear is closed to the voice of sober warning, and the heart feels no need of sympathy or kindly advice. But where grief has entered, the tenderest emotions are awakened and the kindly word from the lips of a friend is balm to the wounded heart, or the sweet messenger of love from God's own Word brings healing on its wings.

Further, in the house of feasting the flesh is pampered, the appetite is ministered to, and the grosser element of our being is developed and strengthened. We become more and more "of the earth earthy." But here our better nature is aroused. The moral, yea the spiritual nature—that which is akin to the divine—is brought to the front. And while we share the sorrow of another, and help bear his burden of woe, our own griefs are forgotten and the weight of our own cherished sorrow grows lighter or perhaps disappears.

Once more, it is better to go to the house of mourning because in the midst of mirth and hilarity, in the crowd of revellers who make the pursuit of pleasure the chief object of life's endeavor, this world grows larger and larger, and fills the mind's eye to the shutting out of immortality and future bliss or woe. Sometimes under the great pressure of the flood of worldly pleasure faith is crushed out of the heart, and in its place is blank atheism which has for its motto "let us eat, drink and be merry, for to-morrow we die."

Lastly, it is better, because "that is the end of all men, and the living will lay it to his heart." Naturally a man considers all men mortal but himself. But here as we look upon this casket and remember that all that is left of a loving husband and affectionate father is this insensate clay, we realize that this is the end to which we soon shall come, and the warning sounds in our ears, "be ye also ready, for at such an hour as ye think not" death shall come to you. When the grave shuts out from our view the familiar face, and in our daily life we miss the kindly greeting of him who was our friend, our thoughts follow him into the mysterious beyond, and we bethink ourselves of the need of preparation for the journey that we too, sooner or later, must begin.

Yes, friends will lay it to heart, and the lone widow will lay it to heart. For when the strong staff on which she has leaned for support is removed, then will she turn to him who is the husband of the widow and the father of the fatherless. Then will she say out of the depths of her sore grief, "thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." "I will fear no evil because thou art with me."

Let me give you, my sister, and your fatherless ones, this precious promise from God's blessed word: "Leave thy fatherless children; I will preserve them alive; and let thy widows trust in me." Believe this, trust this, rest your sad hearts on this, and realize that the everlasting arms are underneath you.

And the children will lay it to heart. They, too, can take this promise of the covenant-keeping God, and realize that, though orphans here, the God of the fatherless is their portion for this life and the life to come.

And now, dear bereaved ones, in this your hour of unspeakable grief, we can only say, from the depths of our hearts, God be gracious to you, my sister, God be gracious to your little ones, to your brothers, and to all whose hearts are wounded by this sad blow.

The Lord "lift upon you the light of his countenance" and grant you peace.

PROGRESS.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

A SONG AND A PRAYER.

A song for the girl we love—
God bless her!
A song for the eyes with their tender wile,
And the fragrant mouth with its melting smile,
The rich brown tresses uncontrolled,
That clasp her neck with their tenderest hold,
And the blossom lips and the dainty chin,
And the lily hand that we try to win:
The girl we love—
God bless her!

A prayer for the girl we loved—
God bless her!
A prayer for the eyes of faded light,
And the cheek whose red rose waned to white,
And the quiet brow with its shadow and gleam,
And the lashes drooped in a long deep dream,
And the small hands crossed for the churchyard rest,
And the flowers dead on the sweet dead breast:
The girl we loved—
God bless her!

LIFE.

A flower that blooms and withers at night?
A sealed book writ in an unknown lore?
A gem which broken naught can restore?
A fevered dream? An atom of light?
A song that dies ere 'tis given flight?
A beaten wave that sobs along the shore,
And breaking on the rocks is heard no more?
At best, a triumph hardly worth the fight?

These are not life! Nay, what with life compare?
Or what may with its glory dare to shine?
Life is a gift ineffable, which bears
The Seal immortal from the Hand Divine;
The gift to serve and love through endless years!
O life most beautiful, what joy is thine!

Planting Corn.

W. L. J., in Atlanta Constitution.]

Whilst it is possible that we may have some freezes again this spring, it would not be wise to defer planting corn any longer. Corn ought to be planted either early enough to mature before intense summer drouths are likely to overtake the crop, or else late enough to catch the August rains when about ready to ear. March and May are the two months for planting. One can still more probably escape the midsummer drouth by planting an early variety of corn as soon as the weather will permit. Taking it all in all, the golden dent is the best field variety of early corn we have ever grown. To get an early maturing crop the seed should be Northern grown—Southern grown seed will not bring the earliest crop; it loses in earliness every year it is planted. Early varieties should never be planted on poor land. All early maturing crops must have rich soil, and corn is no exception. The land should also be very thoroughly prepared, and the crop should receive early and frequent working. For the main crop, plant the best common corn of the neighborhood.

We prefer to plant the main crop in a shallow water furrow, and gradually work the dirt up to it. This renders cultivation easier, and makes it possible to lay by the crop with the surface flat. But for an early corn it is better to plant on low, flat beds. The soil will be dryer and warmer in such beds, and the seed will germinate better and the young plants grow off more promptly. With large and late varieties, this growing off rapidly is not desirable; there is too much tendency with them to make stalk at expense of ear. It is even better to have them held back by a light nipping of frost. But there is no danger of making too much stalk with early varieties if Northern seed are planted. The tendency with them is more to earing than to stalk-making. To facilitate quick germination and a rapid send-off, cover seed quite shallow. More failures to secure a good stand in early spring come from deep planting of seed than from any other cause. Place the seed so the sun's heat can reach them easily, and so the young spear of corn will have less earth to force its way through.

Planting Trees.

Digging big holes for trees should be unnecessary. Dr. Warder said that the hole for a tree should be as large as the orchard. This is the best of advice. It means that the ground should all be well prepared before a tree is put into it. Then one needs to dig only far enough to allow the roots to fall in easily. But the hole must be big enough for the roots. Do not twist or crowd them; and here is where the ordinary tree planter will shirk. Before you know it, he will stick in a tree with the ends of the roots all but peeping through the ground. "Don't be stingy with your holes," is advice which I have to give almost every day in planting time. Get the fine earth firmly in and about the roots. This usually requires the work of the fingers, but it can be done without fussing.

Cultivating Tomatoes.

One of the most common mistakes in the cultivation of tomatoes is in planting them too thickly. Rows should be five feet apart, and plants four feet in row. Ground should be good. Will grow on poor ground and make smooth, good-looking fruit, but crop will be small. Phosphates are very beneficial to tomatoes, and in some recent experiments nitrate of soda has produced most excellent results, applied in small successive doses during cultivation. But phosphates should always be applied in advance of the nitrate. The cultivation should be like that of cotton. Some train to stakes and some on rude frames, but it is about as well to let them run at will on the ground.

Raising Geese and Ducks.

American Agriculturist.]

This is a simple matter, where there are proper conveniences, and markets for their sale. It is hard to raise geese in confinement, on account of their roaming propensities, but ducks can be so raised with profit. Water is not absolutely necessary to their welfare, as many suppose, but is desirable. When mixed with other poultry, they are sometimes troublesome, on account of their pugnacity. A single stroke of their strong beak is enough to kill a full-grown chick.

Home Resources.

Too many farmers have got into the habit of going to the store when they want anything especially nice for the table. The well-managed garden should give the farmer through the summer more delicacies than are possible with those who rely upon the city markets.

"Yes," said the learned youth, "I reached forward and struck him on the optic, and a minute later his alter ego was in mourning."

"His what?" inquired his fond parent.

"His alter ego—his other eye, you know."

Patti is called a diva, John Henry, because she plunges into the sea of melody and brings up the pearls of song. It is probably the effect of this undoubtedly wearing profession that has turned her hair prematurely red.

FACTS FOR THE SICK!

Letter From an Eminent Divine In Regard to the Best Medicine in the World. Read.

WONDERFUL CURES.

ATLANTA, GA., January 2, 1890.

Six months ago, at the request of a friend who was interested in the sale of King's Royal Germetuer, I made a written statement of the benefits I had received from the use of that medicine. In that statement I expressed the belief that it would cure me entirely of Catarrh. Within the last two months I have received letters from every quarter of the nation calling on me for further information in regard to my health. It has been impossible for me to write privately to each person who has made this request, and I am therefore under the necessity of making another public statement.

I am free from Catarrh. I believe that I could get a certificate to this effect from any competent physician. I have used no medicine within the last six months except King's Royal Germetuer. My health is better than it has been in thirty years. I am in possession of information which warrants me in saying that the relief which I have experienced from the use of the medicine is not more certain and radical than that which it has brought to hundreds of persons in Georgia and other States.

I feel it to be my duty to say, also, that the effects of this remedy upon my wife have been even more signal and wonderful. She has been almost a lifelong invalid from Nervous Headache, Neuralgia and Rheumatism. In a period of thirty years she has scarcely had a day's exemption from pain. She has been using Germetuer about two months. A more complete transformation I have never witnessed. Every symptom of disease has disappeared. She appears to be twenty years younger, and is as happy and playful as a healthy child. We have persuaded many of our friends to take the medicine, and the testimony of all of them is that it is a great remedy.

J. B. HAWTHORNE,
Pastor First Baptist Church.

Royal Germetuer builds up from the first dose, the patient quickly feeling its invigorating and health-giving influence. It increases the appetite, aids digestion, clears the complexion, regulates the liver, kidneys, etc., and speedily brings bloom to the cheek, strength to the body and joy to the heart. For weak and debilitated females it is without a rival or a peer.

If you are suffering with disease and fail of a cure, send stamp for printed matter, certificates, etc.

For sale by the Atlantic Germetuer Company, 14 N. Broad St., Atlanta, Ga., and by druggists. Price reduced from $2.50 to $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. Can be sent by express C. O. D. if your druggist cannot supply you.

The World Moves!

Get Up and Ride!!

When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.

It is a well-known fact that all dealers in Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.

We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.

Recollect that we sell you
